

HUMMINGBIRDS

Hummingbirds have to eat almost all the time they are awake. They slurp the nectar from desert flowers with their long bristle-tipped tongues.

1. Color the hummingbird and the wings.
2. Wings: Cut out the wings.
Hummingbird body:
 - a) Cut out the rectangular box around the hummingbird and fold on the dotted line.
 - b) Create a slit by cutting on the dashed line from dot to dot.
 - c) Cut on the bold line around the hummingbird.
(Be careful not to cut across the top.)
3. Add the wings by sliding them through the slit until the notch on the wings is centered.
4. Slightly open the tail feathers so that the air current flows beneath the hummingbird allowing it to rise.
