HEARD MUSEUM OPENS NEW CONTEMPRARY NAVAJO TEXTILE EXHIBIT, ALL AT ONCE: THE GIFT OF NAVAJO WEAVING

Generous private donation expands Heard Museum collection of contemporary American Indian textiles

PHOENIX (Dec. 18, 2020) — The Heard Museum is pleased to announce All at Once: The Gift of Navajo Weaving showcasing 46 exquisite textiles from contemporary Navajo weavers. All at Once has been made possible by the generous donation of longtime Heard Museum members and supporters, Mark and Julie Dalrymple. These textiles, plus dozens more, now reside in the Heard Museum's permanent collection.

Artist statements from leading Navajo weavers are featured throughout this exhibition including Marlowe Katoney, Marilou Schultz and sisters Barbara Teller Ornelas and Lynda Teller Pete. In their own words, weavers share their sources of inspiration and the way family heritage, technique, materials and knowledge have built up over generations of learning to come together "all at once" under the weaver's hand.

All at Once: The Gift of Navajo Weaving opens in the Heard Museum's Jacobson Gallery of Fine Art on December 18, 2020 and will stay on exhibit through the fall of 2021. Tickets and info at <https://heard.org/exhibits/all-at-once-the-gift-of-navajo-weaving/>

All at Once: The Gift of Navajo Weaving is made possible by:

About the Heard Museum

Since its founding in 1929, the Heard Museum, a private nonprofit organization, has grown in size and stature to become recognized internationally for the quality of its collections, world-class exhibitions, educational programming and unmatched festivals. Dedicated to the advancement of American Indian art, the Heard successfully presents the stories of American Indian people from a first-person perspective, as well as exhibitions that showcase the beauty and vitality of traditional and contemporary art. The Heard Museum is supported, in part, by the generosity of Heard Museum members and donors, the Arizona Commission on the Arts, and the City of Phoenix Office of Arts and Culture. In association with the Smithsonian, the Heard Museum is part of a select group of museums and cultural, educational and arts organizations that share the Smithsonian's resources with the nation.
